

India-Japan Environmental Cooperation for Realisation of Net Zero Society in India

23 December 2022 | Delhi

The International Forum for Sustainable Asia and the Pacific (ISAP) is held annually to share information and facilitate diverse discussions on sustainable development in Asia and the Pacific, with the participation of front-line experts and diverse stakeholders from international organisations, governments, business and NGOs. With the aim of strengthening environmental cooperation between Japan and India, the Ministry of the Environment, Japan (MOEJ) and the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change of India ( MoEFCC) organized a policy dialogue, seminars, and an exhibition in New Delhi during December 2022 to mark 'India-Japan Environmental Week'.

In this session, IGES presented the activities and outcomes of the Japan-India Technology Matchmaking Platform (JITMAP), a joint initiative of IGES and The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) of India to promote environmental cooperation between Japan and India and to receive feedback from stakeholders on future cooperation.
